

Course number		G-LAS10 80004 LE31
Course title (and course title in English)		東南アジア地域論 Southeast Asian Studies		Instructor's name, job title, and department of affiliation		Graduate School of Agriculture Professor,KANZAKI MAMORU Center for Southeast Asian Studies Professor,KOUNO YASUYUKI Center for Southeast Asian Studies Associate Professor,OONO MIKIKO Center for Southeast Asian Studies Assistant Professor,SHITARA NARUMI
Group		Interdisciplinary Graduate Courses		Field(Classification)		Humanities and Social Sciences
Language of instruction		English		Old group		Number of credits 2
Hours		30		Class style		Lecture (Face-to-face course)
Year/semesters		2024・Intensive, Second semester		Target year		Graduate students
Days and periods		Intensive October 5-7 (planned)		Eligible students		For all majors
(Students of Graduate School of Agriculture cannot take this course as liberal arts and general education course. Please register the course with your department.)
[Overview and purpose of the course]
This subject aims at studying the ecological and social dynamics of Southeast Asia and issues embedded in them including human health, human activity and natural environment and natural resources management. The knowledge and ideas provided in this subject would be the foundation to think over about the human security development of Southeast Asia.
[Course objectives]
To acquire basic knowledge on geography, society, and culture of Southeast Asia, and contemporary issues in the region.
[Course schedule and contents)]
One or two lectures will be given on each of the following topics: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Introduction to Southeast Asian Studies 2. The natural environment and development path of Southeast Asia 3. The society and culture of Southeast Asia 4. Economic development, poverty, and economic disparities 5. Natural resource management and environmental degradation 6. Conflict, governance, and peace-keeping 7. Contemporary human security issues in Southeast Asia 8. Discussion and Feedback All of the lectures are provided as online lectures using Zoom Meeting and Panda. This intensive course will open from October 5(Mon) to 8(Thu). The course will openfrom October 5(Mon) to 8(Thu), the beginning of second semester. Beware of announcements through KULASIS. If you can not get information, Please contact the coordinator of the course via. Email.Mamoru Kanzaki (Coordinator) kanzaki.mamoru.8s@kyoto-u.ac.jp before October 4.

Continue to 東南アジア地域論(2)

東南アジア地域論(2)

[Course requirements]

None

[Evaluation methods and policy]

Overall judgment based on attendance, discussion in the classroom and a report

[Textbooks]

Instructed during class

[References, etc.]

(References, etc.)

Introduced during class

[Study outside of class (preparation and review)]

No preparation is required.

Students must submit a final report assigned during the class.

[Other information (office hours, etc.)]

Kono Yasuyuki: kono@cseas.kyoto-u.ac.jp