

Course number
Course title (and course title in English)	Emergency Management Basic Emergency Management Basic			Instructor's name, job title, and department of affiliation	Graduate School of Management Visiting Associate Professor,MURAI AKIKO Graduate School of Management Visiting Associate Professor,FUKAMI MAKI
Group	Interdisciplinary Graduate Courses		Field(Classification)	Interdisciplinary Courses
Language of instruction	English		Old group			Number of credits	2
Hours	30	Class style	Lecture (Face-to-face course)		Year/semesters	2024 • Intensive, First semester
Days and periods	Intensive 17th Aug. to 21th Aug (6th period(18:15-19:45)-7th period(20:00-21:30)) and 24th Aug. to 25th Aug. (5th period(16:30-18:00)-7th(20:00-21:30))		Target year	Graduate students	Eligible students	For all majors
(Students of Graduate School of Management cannot take this course as liberal arts and general education course. Please register the course with your department.)
[Overview and purpose of the course]
【Lecture schedule update】 August 17-21, period 6.7 (18:15-19:45 / 20:00-21:30) August 24 & 25, period 5-7 (16:30-18:00 / 18:15-19:45 / 20:00-21:30) This course offers an opportunity to learn how to manage and handle emergency - difficult situation as a collective effort. Based on American Emergency Management system, students will learn about how US developed their disaster management, how different from military activities or counter terrorism, other countries disaster management besides US, what kind of skills are required to be a great leader under emergencies, what type of international collaboration is going on etc. At the end of the course, you will receive the certificate from Federal Emergency Management Agency regarding ICS course completion if you are successful enough. *This course wil feature COVID-19 and the resopoces.
[Course objectives]
Basic understanding about Emergency Management.
[Course schedule and contents)]
1. Introduction - what's Emergency Management 2. Case study - COVID-19 USA 3. Case study - COVID-19 CHINA 4. Case study - COVID-19 Singapore 5. Case study - COVID-19 Taiwan 6. How to design the effective emergency management 7. Business continuity and risk management 8. Teamwork and leadership under emergency 9. Emergency Manager and risk assessment 10. Crisis Communication
Continue to Emergency Management Basic(2)

Emergency Management Basic(2)

- 11. Tabletop exercise
- 12. Tabletop exercise
- 13. Incident Command System I
- 14. Incident Command System II
- 15. ICS FEMA Exam IS-100
- 16. ICS FEMA Exam IS-200

[Course requirements]

No requirement but strongly recommend to visit FEMA ICS website and learn about ICS before joining this course. <http://emilms.fema.gov/is100c>

Also if you have an understanding of Organization theory, it would be helpful.

[Evaluation methods and policy]

50% Class attendance and contribution
50% ICS exam

[Textbooks]

Instructed during class
To be announced as needed

[References, etc.]

(References, etc.)
To be announced as needed

[Study outside of class (preparation and review)]

<http://emilms.fema.gov/is100c>

(Japanese) <https://www.hitachi-hri.com/reciprocal/i045.html>
(English). <https://www.hitachi-hri.com/english/reciprocal/i045.html>

[Other information (office hours, etc.)]

Reference materials will be announced as needed at the beginning of the course and at each class, as needed.

オフィスアワーの詳細については、KULASISで確認してください。